
Risk Management & Insurance Courses at NC Community Colleges Fall 2017

Last revised: September 11, 2017

The North Carolina Community College System (NCCCS) has continuing education provisions for its 58-member community colleges to offer Insurance and Risk Management courses under Continuing Education. Currently, several Community Colleges are offering such courses.

However, Friday, August 18th was a BIG day for NCCCS and its partnership with IIANC. The State Board of Community Colleges (the governing board of the North Carolina Community College System) approved a realignment of the academic course offerings in Accounting & Finance programs across the fifty-eight community colleges. The new alignment provides, for the first-time ever, initial academic course offerings for a specialty track in Risk Management and Insurance (RMI.)

Any community college campus choosing to offer the RMI specialty will provide students the opportunity to apply these courses toward a certificate, diploma, or 2-year degree in Accounting & Finance with an RMI specialty. The academic rollout by NCCCS of the new RMI specialty will occur throughout 2018.

The new academic realignment that includes the “Risk Management and Insurance” specialty can be found at:

http://www.nccommunitycolleges.edu/sites/default/files/state-board/program/prog_06_accounting_and_finance_alignment_project_summary.pdf.

While the new RMI alignment is being rolled out in 2018, IIANC has offered to post on the IIANC website any CC courses being taught that are related to RMI in Continuing Education. The list below is comprised of those CCs providing continuing education course information to NCCCS. Until the roll out of the RMI specialty is completed, all courses are in the Continuing Education category.
